LAWYER CHECKS.

STILL A MYSTERY.

Joseph Schwartzendahl Driven to Crime by Bettine.

HIS SALOON AND RESIDENCE DESERTED AND HE IS SUPPOSED TO HAVE FLED.

The H. P. Fabriens Toy Co. Caught on a Check to Which M. J. Muivilhilt's Name Was Forged—Epstein & Bernstein Also Taken in—General Police News.

Following failures in the saloon business and in guessing the horses at Madison track Joseph Schwartzendahl this week turned his attention in an amateurish way to the collection of other people's autographs for commercial purposes. His success was only fair, however, and that he merely attempted to work his business acquaintances. Schwartzendahl had sold liquor at retail for several years. Less than a year ago his stand was No. 901 Morgan street. Before the St. Louis Fair opened last fall he removed to No. 4180 Warne avenue, hoping to profit by the ebb and flow of racetrack and ball park patronage. But his calculations were somehow out of line with trade conditions, and those who judge by the amount of liquor he bought believe that he made no money worth mentioning. However, he changed his residence, took up housekeeping to the vicinity of his store and brought some furniture on the installment plan from M. J. Muivilhilt of No. 112 North West street.

Business continuing slack, Schwartzendahl began playing the races, what success can only be inferred from his recent conduct. His saloon was neglected, and about a week ago was closed by one of his creditors. Last Wednesday he entered the store of the H. P. Fabriens Toy Co., No. 704 North Fourth street, and offered a check for $8 in payment of a bill of $42, representing toys purchased seven weeks before for his children. He had no separate bank with the firm both on cash and credit basis, and had been seemingly honest, the check was accepted. It was given to Charles F. Schaefer in Schwartzendahl's favor, apparently by M. J. Muivilhilt. On Friday the Fabriens Toy Co. was notified that the care of Mr. Schwartzendahl was a forgery. This information led Mr. Fabriens to canvass the vicinity of Schwartzendahl's saloon, but when he had received no reply he sent word that what might have been expected. The saloon and Schwartzendahl's residence were both vacated, and the grocer, who had been staying at the former, had moved to Chicago, where the furniture in the house had been recovered by the time payment firm which it had been purchased. Mr. Fabriens also found that a number of creditors were clamoring for their dues, but could gain no definite information. A grocer, however, who had been doing business with the saloonkeeper and his family left the neighborhood yesterday, and by their own account had heard nothing from Mr. Mo., where Mrs. Schwartzendahl's parents are said to reside. The grocer added, as his individual snatches her valise and ran. He was chased by an officer several blocks, and then captured. The officer, however, proved to be Henry Schwinden, a police constable. The valise and money were recovered, and the prisoner was indicted. He got out on a $2,000 bond and then escaped out.

Following Detectives Andrew Rohan arrived from Chicago to the three bank breakers, O'Brien, Jack Nevill and Harry Shrodes, alias Dutch Galvin, in Chicago, where they were wanted on various charges of highway robbery and larceny. Detective Rohan said that the latest offense charged against Schwinden was committed on Feb. 1st. A lady named Mrs. Catherine Weisner, who had drawn $100 from a bank at Washington and Dearborn streets, and was walking out with her valise, was snatched by the two desperadoes, who had been following her. She was chased by an officer several blocks, and then captured. The officer, however, proved to be Henry Schwinden, a police constable. The valise and money were recovered, and the prisoner was indicted. He got out on a $2,000 bond and then escaped out.

No Light Throw on the Fabey Killing
—The Testimony To-Day.

The murderer of James, alias Bed Fabey, is still unknown to the authorities, and despite all the efforts of the police and the Coroner, they have been unable to gain the slightest clue to the persons who were with Fabey when the cutting occurred. Last night Charles Peron, one of Fabey's friends, and also a friend of Tom French, Matt Kelly and Mattie Klatz, all of whom are under arrest on suspicion of being implicated in the murder, was taken into custody by Detectives Danaher and Schoppe. It was thought he could throw some light on the case, but when he was told that he was to be questioned by the Klatz woman and Kelly, the mystery was just as deep as ever.

Feyton testified that he had been at the Klatz home with Mattie Klatz or Matt Kelly, at 22 Center street, on the night the cutting occurred. Fabey was with him, and they had been fighting with some men across the street. He returned to the Klatz house, and after a while went away, and Tom French testified that he had been at the Klatz home with Kelly, the mystery was just as deep as ever.

THE Lake Fund cannot grow too large to fit the need of the unemployed.

The best thing that can be said of Bourke Cockran is that he did not vote as he talked.

THE Senate will bring itself much nearer to the people by a prompt majority for the income tax.

HAVING passed the revenue bill the house proceeds to waste its time over Hawaiian resolutions and other back number matters.

THE District Attorneyship for the Western District of Missouri is not a high prize to pay for the confirmation of a nominee for the Supreme Court.

PERHAPS if Quiggle had been on the ticket with Mr. Harrison in '92 in place of Col. Reid the result would have been different. Let it be Harrison and Quiggle in '96.

THE young man of Wisconsin whose mouth gradually closes and has to be cut open occasionally has a bright future before him. When he is older his neighbors will insist on sending him to Congress.

THE Finance Committee of the Senate will keep the revenue bill for a few weeks and then the lazy debate will begin. But as this is a billion dollar country we can wait indefinitely for relief from the pressure of hard times.

If the fortunate few who have fifty of the seventy billions of our wealth should be driven to untruthful habits by an income tax it would be a grievous thing, and the eye of the needle might be closed to the camel forever.

THE presumption of the Honolulu adventurers in asking Uncle Samuel to celebrate the anniversary of their usurpation is phenomenal. If check will preserve as well as make a government, the one in Hawaii will certainly last as long as its founders live.

MR. BOUTELIER'S "fantastic and bedeviled gyrations" are perhaps intended for effect on his constituents. It is Mr. Boutelier's privilege to make himself as conspicuous as he likes. Why should he be overshadowed by Thomas Brackett Reed—as if there could be but one great man in America.

THE Populist party is not dead yet, nor even sleeping. If the Democrats in the Senate do not prove their Democracy we may look for enough Populists in the lower House of the next Congress to hold the balance of power. Then watch the eagerness with which Republicans offer tax reform as the price of an alliance.

SENATOR SHERMAN, according to "Gath," wants to put under the civil service every Federal officeholder except those who are to be elected, and he favors the election of United States Senators by the people. If Mr. Sherman could bring himself to the support of one or two other great reforms, there is no knowing how close he might get to the White House in '96.

If the man who wrote from St. Louis asking about a Louisiana lottery and saying "he was a poor man, but could invest $1 a month if the lottery was O. K.," men could know how many other poor men have been contributing hard-earned dollars to lotteries for many years without getting back a cent he would make no further inquiries.

Overwork, which is able to establish a municipal electric lighting plant, gets it for less than the estimate of the commission appointed to carry out the project. Every electrical concern in the country bid for the job except the trust. This goes to show that economy is possible in municipal work when really public-spirited citizens are in charge. It also shows that competition may be relied upon to insure the best results.

It is suspected that Thomas Brackett Reed may have started a literary bureau. A Washington letter says: "Ask the Ho-publican leaders here now to name their choice of a candidate, and the verdict will be overwhelmingly in favor of Reed. 'Napoleon' McKinley has some adherents, of course, but not many more than ex-President Harrison, who has very few indeed." Let us keep our eyes on Thomas Brackett. The man who passed the McKinley bill may fry more fat than McKinley himself.

AUTOKOUE wool and dye stuffs, the raw materials of carpets, are heavily taxed under the present law. American manufacturers sell their goods in England and have compelled the English makers to reduce their prices 10 per cent. Nearly 60,000 rolls of American carpets were sold last year right under the noses of the Belfast manufacturers of Axminster. If we can do this with a tax on the raw materials how much more easily can it be done when they are made free of tax as proposed by the Wilson bill as it stands now. If the Senate has any political sense it will enlarge rather than shorten the free list.

STEPHEN A. DOUGLAS, at a recent meeting of a Republican Executive Committee in Chicago, said: "Virtue and shrewdness combined are all right in a judge or clerk of election, but they are devilish hard to find; so we'd better have shrewd men appointed and let virtue go to the devil. We don't want your upright business men appointed as judges and clerks of election. They are not worth much when it comes to electing a Republican to office. What we want are smooth politicians who will do the work required of them." It is plain that Mr. Douglas is a much smaller giant than his father. Possibly his Chicago environment has dwarved him.

A MINISTERIAL MISFIT.

Minister Willis very properly declined the invitation to participate in the birthday celebration of the Hawaiian Provisional Government. He could not in decency accept it.

Mr. Willis was sent by his Government to set aside the Provisional Government and substitute its predecessor, for the overthrow of which it is responsible. He was charged to give encouragement and assistance to its enemies. He accused it of being a matter of far greater moment than his conviction after trial. The prosecution of Butler is not a personal concern of Leary, but the concern of the people of the State. They have a right to know by what means they are deprived of the opportunity to vindicate and enforce their laws. The punishment of one who interferes with the enforcement of the laws is of more importance to the State than the punishment of any number of ordinary criminals.

The inability of the State to prosecute Butler is a matter of far greater moment than his conviction after trial. The dismissal of the case creates a more imperative necessity for investigation and vindication of the law than the case itself. If the Butler "pull" can be depended upon to protect the Butler gang from the penalty of crime this city is not fit for anyone to live in except the Butler gang.

NICKELS THAT DO NOT COME BACK.

While the public is aware that the employment of the best legal talent by corporations is not to its interest, it can not withhold its admiration from the legal gentlemen themselves. We all admire courage, but we admire ingenuity more. The schemes and dodges invented by lawyers in behalf of their wealthy and powerful clients, the corporations, may shock our moral sense and deplete our pockets, but we wonder at the skill and acumen of the inventors while we tremble for their welfare in a possible world to come.

MRS. MACKETT was never a washerwoman it seems. Whenever a report is spread that a rich woman was once of some use in the world it is at once contradicted, and the good opinion that might be formed of her is lost, like most women must be very unhappy.

SHOULD "De Ole Man" conciliate der Dreibund and go to Congress his tariff speeches would have a powerful effect national affairs. Dassel and Walker would not be "in it" with "De Ole Man."

We are a proud and boastful people, but as we still consume nearly half the world's quinine product it looks as if we are a little shabby.

CANNON PLAINS would like to be Senator in Culom's place; but what if he were to go off in the Senate as he once did in the House?

MARSHALL'S ACTION

The City Counselor Excepts to Judge Vaillant's Order.

PROCEEDINGS IN COURT TO-DAY IN THE REID CASE.

Probable That the Real Fight Will Be Made in the Supreme Court—Inventory of the Estate of the Late Mr. Ranken—The Lambert Co. Gets an Injunction.

City Counselor Marshall, after studying over the Reid case a greater part of the night, was at the Court-house early this morning to file a bill of exceptions to Judge Vaillant's order of yesterday and then decide what was to be done after that. Mr. Marshall, in speaking of the case this morning, said: "It strikes me that the superceding order directs the Mayor to interfere no further in the affairs of Mr. Reid as superfluous, inasmuch as he has gone as far as he can go and has no intention whatever of going further in this case."

"What do you intend to do in the matter now?" was asked.

"I do not really know, but time will tell. To-day I am going to file my bill of exceptions in the case."

When Mr. Marshall got the attention of the court he said that he wanted to file his bill of exceptions to-day because it was the last of the term and for that reason the master could not be delayed. In explaining his anxiety to make the application a part of the record, he conveyed the impression that he intended to make the real fight on the case before the term opened.

Judge Vaillant said he would look over the exceptions and then decide what he would do.

The Injunction Granted.

Judge Withrow this morning made a decree in the case of the Lambert Pharmacal Co. against John H. Allen, in which the defendant is enjoined from infringing on the patent of Lambert's company, and at the same time the Lambert company put on the market a patent medicine under the trade mark or word symbol of "Listerine." A short time after the decree was issued in the business, made up a similar preparation with a name very nearly similar and sold it as "Germic" as an article equally good and safe for use, and an application for an injunction was simultaneously filed in the case, and it was then agreed upon that Withrow would hear the evidence, rendered a verdict for the plaintiff.

Judge Withrow in his decree awards the Lambert company nominal damages in the sum of $1 and enjoins Allen from infringing on the rights of the Lambert company.

REID IN CONTROL.

The Deposed Building Commissioner Resumes Office—Laborers Demand a Trial. Building Commissioner Reid assumed the duties of his office this morning with the air of a man who was in the office to stay. He said his attorneys were fully prepared to meet every move made by the Mayor or City Council, and he did not propose to be summarily ousted from his office on a set of trumped-up charges, preferred for purely political reasons.

Major Waibriggs, when seen and asked if an appeal would be taken at once to the State Council, said: "I think the City Council will have to determine that matter, but he presumed no action of that kind would be taken unless the city had to be dissolved." In his communication to the City Council last night announcing the removal of the Building Commissioner, the Mayor stated that he had no desire to see Major Waibriggs continue to defective work at the Poor-house, and also at the surgical ward of the City Hospital.

Demand a Trial.

RESULT OF A BITTER FEUD BETWEEN THEM AND THE CHRISTIANS.

Great Indignation Against the Governor Because Four Christians Were Executed for Crimes and Criminal Mussulmans Were Reprieved—Wholesale Arrests Have Followed—General Foreign News.

ATHENS, Greece, Feb. 3.—The execution of four Christians, who were sentenced to death for various crimes in the island of Crete, has incensed the Christians of the island against the Governor. Their indignation is increased by the fact that several Mussulmans, who were convicted of capital charges, have been reprieved.

Two Mussulmans were found hanging to trees near Selene recently, and it is thought that they were executed by Christians, who were at the same time hanging to trees near their comrades. The lynching of these two men led to wholesale arrests, and the fanaticism of both sets has been aroused.
